Most Requested Programs From Our Clients

Communication Workshops

Leadership: Forgiveness in Business

Leaders take risks and make mistakes all the time. Dr. Shawne Duperon, a Nobel Peace Prize nominee, has found that when you make a mistake and – don't forgive yourself quickly – it can have a long-term impact. Using Project: Forgive as her case study, you'll leave this series of innovative workshops with new leadership skills that gear you toward smarter risk-taking, dumping perfectionism, and moving into powerful choices that grow your business, your career and ultimately yourself.

The Apology

This innovative presentation is all about growing outside your comfort zone and exploring the power of an apology as a leader. Through this highly interactive experience, Dr. Shawne leads participants through the leadership technique of "Accepting the Apology You'll Never Receive." This tool consistently garners tens of thousands of participants on Dr. Shawne's Facebook Live Broadcasts, providing a new level of mastery in authentic leadership in business.

Amplifying Good Gossip

Gossip gets a bad rap. Research shows that mean nasty stuff is only 5-7% of gossip conversations. When done right, gossip is the smartest and most powerful way to stimulate loyalty and productivity in the workplace, while also strategically marketing your organization, your practice or yourself. This series of workshops provide innovative tips and tools to exponentially grow your career or organization.

Workplace Engagement Starts with Leaders

When it comes to leadership, what's the signal you broadcast whether you're training an employee, leading a project, networking at an event, posting on Facebook or being interviewed by the local news? This training shifts your communication leadership perceptions, producing a new set of innovative skills to engage a work environment that causes positive change.

The Psychology of Presenting

During these interactive workshops, Dr. Shawne shifts your existing perceptions of presentation styles. It's not about getting the presentation "right," or how to stop the "umm's." This experiential class dives deep into the psychology of presenting, offering unique strategies to authentically engage your audience, close the sale, have them approve your project and "good gossip" about it afterward.

Social Media Mastery

These non-techie courses get to the root of creating long-term on-going relationships in social media. Dr. Shawne should know, she's reaching millions in social media with her case study, Project: Forgive. She'll share how to avoid the biggest social media mistakes on the most popular platforms. You'll also discover how to master strategies that help you grow your brand, create a following or expand your career.

Media Mastery for Business

Whether working with the media is your top priority or your deepest fear, these series of workshops provide the tips and media techniques that create instant credibility and charisma when being interviewed by any reporter, producer or influential blogger, causing exponential good gossip for yourself, your organization or non-profit.
